Greetings Neighbors!

May is finally here! After a cold and windy March and April, May has arrived with warm and sunny weather. At long last we're enjoying the mild and comfortable climate the south bay is supposed to be famous for. Speaking as a guy who does not like dark and cold, all I can say is that it is high time we had some bright and warm days!

Even though it feels like spring has only now gotten started, it won't be long before summer comes this way. By the time you are reading this there will only be about four weeks of school left for this year. School lets out for the summer on June 11th, and after that kids will have lots of free time until the next school year starts in August.

For many of our children those summer days are carefree and happy times. For others, though, summer break can bring fresh challenges for themselves and their families.

Some of our kids come from households where parents and older siblings all work – sometimes with two or even three jobs each. Those kids end up spending their summer days in empty houses with no one to watch them or even help them figure out what to do with their time.

Some of those kids depend on the school lunch program to get enough to eat. When there is no school for them to go to, they can go hungry.

It is terribly ironic that in a neighborhood like ours there can be this kind of suffering. It is true we live in the "poor" part of Sunnyvale, where the houses are

Your art work, poster, essay, poem or story will be published on our website and face book page. (we will list your first name and age only.)

Mail or drop your art off at 921 Lakebird Drive, Sunnyvale 94089 or email me at sunnyphyl@gmail.com . Please include your name, age and address. (or I won't be able to get you the movie ticket!) The deadline is June 1st . ◆ only worth about three quarters of a million dollars as opposed to the $1.5 million price tags on houses further south. We are also in the geographic center of Silicon Valley, one of the most economically successful places in the world.

It is easy to look at the wealth around us and forget how unevenly spread about the community it is. If you are a high-tech wizard working for Google or Yahoo, life is pretty good. If you are a school teacher or a bus driver, things are not so good here, even in the best of economic times.

Come to the Lakewood Park building on Wednesday, May 13th at 7:00pm to hear about summer programs for kids and families. We will have a representative from Sunnyvale Community Services to give an overview of the ways they can help. We will also hear from a representative of the Columbia Neighborhood Center, talking about the programs and activities they offer. These two presentations will offer practical ways to help children get through the summer break and back to school ready to learn again in the fall. It should be a very interesting evening. ◆

30th Annual Hands On The Arts

When: Saturday, May 16th
Time: 10 A.M. - 4 P.M.
Where: Sunnyvale Community Center
550 East Remington Drive

Hands on the Arts is an all-day children's art festival. This event features more than 30 workshop booths where children can try their hands at different art forms. Professional artists lead workshops using a wide variety of arts and craft materials and techniques, as well as music and dance. Many of the workshops introduce children to unique art forms from different cultures, such as Indian rangoli, Chinese silk knotting, Japanese brush painting and Mexican folklorico dancing. All supplies are included in the nominal per-child admission fee. (Adults and non-participating children are welcome at no charge.)

The festival's outdoor stage features family-friendly entertainment all day and roving performers add to the festive atmosphere. There is also a small food court near the stage selling a variety of healthy, kid-friendly foods. Picnics are also welcome. ◆

Don't Fall Victim to Common Scams

Reprinted from
"Beyond the Badge"

An aggressive and sophisticated phone scam targeting taxpayers, the elderly, and citizens in general has been making the rounds throughout the country. Telephone callers will claim to be employees of the IRS, PG&E, Cable Company, a local or foreign law enforcement agency, or other collection agency. These con artists can sound very convincing when they call. They will use fake names and bogus identification badge numbers. They may know a lot about their targets and they usually alter the caller ID to show the agency which they claim to be calling from.

Victims are told they owe money and it must be paid promptly through a pre-loaded debit card or wire transfer. If the victim refuses to cooperate, they are then threatened with arrest, deportation or suspension of a business or driver's license, or termination of services. In many cases, the caller becomes hostile and insulting.

Victims may also be told they have a refund due to try to trick them into sharing private information. If the phone isn't answered, the scammers often leave an "urgent" callback request.

It is important to note that the IRS, a law enforcement agency, or any reputable business will NEVER:

⇒ Call to demand immediate payment, nor will the agency call about taxes owed without first having mailed you a bill.

⇒ Demand that you pay taxes without giving you the opportunity to question or appeal the amount they say you owe.

⇒ Ask for credit or debit card numbers over the ⇒ Require you to use a specific payment method for your taxes, such as a prepaid debit card.

⇒ Ask for credit or debit card numbers over the phone.

⇒ Threaten to bring in local police or other law enforcement groups to have you arrested for not paying.

If you suspect you've been the victim of this scam, please contact Sunnyvale Department of Public Safety. The Non-Emergency line is (408) 730-7100.

Otherwise, we urge you to be on the lookout and help spread the word to prevent others from falling victim to these scammers. ◆

A Little Free Library Project

A Little Free Library is a "take a book, return a book" gathering place where neighbors share their favorite literature.

This Little Free Library offers a way to share good things to read—favorite books from your childhood or books you would recommend to friends; books that teach, intrigue and engage you. It is basically a box full of books where anyone may stop by and pick up a book (or two) and bring back another book to share.

Many people build their own Little Free Library, often as a group or classroom project. Others purchase a kit or completed library from LittleFreeLibrary.org. At LFL's website you can also find tips, blueprints and measurements for building your Library. (While you are there, check out the YouTube tutorials!)

These tiny neighborhood libraries embody the essence of a public library on a micro scale. To help spread this idea, the Friends of Sunnyvale Library will award up to five grants per year towards purchase or construction of Little Free Libraries in Sunnyvale. The grants will be up to $200 each to eligible applicants.

To be eligible, your Little Free Library (LFL) should:

- be sturdy and waterproof *
- have an official charter number *
- be registered on the LFL world map *

* Information found at LittleFreeLibrary.org.

- have some indication of Friends of the Sunnyvale Library sponsorship

FOTSVL sponsorship can be indicated by a sign, a plaque, labels on the books in your library, bookmarks, etc.

If you have established a LittleFreeLibrary in Sunnyvale and would like to apply for a grant from the Friends, please send a completed application form with the official charter number, a picture of your LFL, and receipts of related expenses (copies are OK)

by mail to:

Friends of the Sunnyvale Library
665 W Olive Ave
Sunnyvale CA 9406

Or by email attachment to fotsvl@gmail.com.

Sorry, only one application per residence. ◆
