President's Column

-Fred Fowler

Greetings neighbors! I'm writing this on "Black Friday", the day after Thanksgiving, and I'm recovering from a wonderful Thanksgiving feast where (of course) I ate too much – again. Phyllis and I had a very nice visit with some of our family, and the 2015 holiday season is now "officially" underway.

So far that holiday season has brought a flood of e-mails from every online and offline shopping opportunity you can think of, all telling me how much money I can save by spending it on their goods rather than someone else's. The message is "Buy! Buy More! Be Happy! Buy!" Over the years, the meaning of Thanksgiving seems to have become a day for retailers to give thanks that the rest of us have a tradition of gift giving around this time of year.

Of course, Thanksgiving means much more than that. People remember that it is a time for families to get together and think about all the good things they enjoy. People often forget about the "community" aspect of the holiday, though.

The first Thanksgiving, after all, was a time when a community got together to celebrate. The Pilgrims in the Plymouth colony in Massachusetts had toiled through their first hard year in the new world. The first winter had seen half of their number starve to death. The ensuing Spring and Summer had meant back breaking work to get fields cleared, get seeds planted and nurture the crops through the growing season.

There was also the challenge of getting to know their neighbors – the native people who had lived there for generations and had a way of life that was very different from the European newcomers.

The first Thanksgiving was a harvest festival. The growing season was over and the land had born its fruit. There was finally plenty to eat. The threat of starvation had been staved off for at least another year. Also, relations between the newcomers and the original inhabitants of the land had gotten better. What does one do in such circumstances? Throw a party, of course!

We all know the story of that first Thanksgiving feast. The Pilgrims and the native people got together, pooled their food stuffs and had a big banquet to celebrate the occasion. The colonists made pumpkin pie, the Indians brought turkeys and the whole traditional menu was established. After eating themselves silly, everyone fell into the traditional food coma and slept for the rest of the day.

By the time our current crop of 6th graders graduate from high school, we'll have the opportunity to celebrate the 400th anniversary of that first big party. I think we should stop and take a moment to think about what it means for us here in Lakewood Village.

First of all, I think we should remember how much neighbors matter. We live in a fast paced Silicon Valley world where sometimes people can't take time to be with their own families very much, let alone the folks who live nearby. Nevertheless, our neighbors are the people we share our lives with. We should be grateful for all of the good neighbors we have.

Second, I think we should appreciate the fact that we live in a place with such a strong sense of community. Living in Lakewood Village means something. We have strong traditions and celebrations that are all our own. We have a good sense of our own identity. We do things together.

One of the big things we do each year is our Holiday Parade. The 2015 edition of the parade will step off at 11:00am on Saturday, December 5th. Once again we will have the Fremont High School marching band, a fleet of fancy cars and of course Santa Claus marching their way from Lakewood School across Lawrence Expressway to Fairwood Park. We're the only neighborhood in Sunnyvale (and perhaps all of Santa Clara County) that does anything like this at all.

Why do we do this? Because it helps us show the rest of the world who we are.

I'm thankful that Phyllis and I live in Lakewood Village. We moved here in 1995 –20 years ago! – and now there is nowhere else in the United States I would rather call home.

Thanks neighbors! Thanks for making this the best community to live in in the city of Sunnyvale and beyond. ◆

Holiday Tips From Sunnyvale Public Safety

The Sunnyvale Department of Public Safety is proud to serve you each and every day. During the Holiday Season our officers are especially vigilant to ensure this time of year is safe and joyous. Unfortunately, the Holidays do attract those to our neighborhoods that are intent on committing thefts.

Here are helpful tips you and your family can use now and throughout the year:

* Lock ALL doors and windows and use a secondary blocking device on those that slide open (i.e. small wooden dowel rod).
* Close and lock your garage door.
* Lock all gates leading to the rear or side area of your residence.
* Secure all home tools inside your residence or garage.
* Download tracking applications on electronic devices.
* Get to know your neighbors.

* Invest in a home security system with an audible alarm.
* Photograph valuables and record serial numbers.

If you observe any suspicious people, vehicles, or activity in your neighborhood, please contact Public Safety immediately by dialing 911. Our dispatchers are standing by to immediately send an officer to you.

If you have additional crime prevention questions, please contact our Community Service Bureau at (408) 730-7140. You may also email an anonymous (non-emergency) crime tip.

We wish you and your family a safe and happy holiday season ◆

Holiday Tree Recycling - "Treecycling"

The city provides an annual holiday tree recycling program for all single family, duplex, triplex, and mobile homes. During this time, residents may recycle holiday trees with the regular yard waste program by placing them at curbside on the regular garbage collection day. Trees may be placed in the yard trimmings cart. We also take flocked trees. Please cut trees into lengths of four feet or shorter. Remove nails and decorations.

Contact the City of Sunnyvale Recycling Program at (408) 730-7262 or Specialty Solid Waste with any questions (408) 565-9900.

Rethink Your Holiday Lights!

As the holidays approach, neighborhoods will start to glow with festive light displays. However, those decorations can often be costly to you and the environment. Did you know a light display of only 6 strings (100 incandescent bulbs each) costs #3.90 a day to operate? That adds up to $117 a month! Switching to energy efficient LED lights will reduce your daily cost to only 3.2 cents a day, or 96 cents a month – that will surely fill your wallet with cheer. The SMaRT Station at 301 Carl Rd in Sunnyvale accepts holiday lights for recycling 8am-5pm, seven days per week.
