Happy Holidays!

I hope you and your families had as lovely a Thanksgiving as Fred and I

It's the holiday time again and nothing says it like our neighborhood lighting up! I have always hated "daylight saving time." It does not really "save time" or electricity. There are statistics that show there is very little difference in the use of electricity by moving the clock forward (in the fall). However, I always look forward to seeing my neighbor's decorations and holiday lights!

Unfortunately this is also the season for shopping! I now receive over 70 emails a day telling me the great deals I can get. (Fortunately, I am almost done with my Christmas shopping) I have even received emails from companies I had never heard of. Be very careful of any emails from someone you do not know, because there may be viruses embedded in them. One of the computers were I work has been infected .It causes my computer to slow down and I have to reboot about once an hour .

This month we will have a "Holiday Desert Pot Luck." It will be the December 14th, the second Wednesday of the month. Bring your favorite holiday treat and share with your neighbors. We will have hot chocolate and cider. Snickerdoodles have always been a holiday tradition in my family, so I will bake some up. Have a lovely holiday and see you Wednesday! ◆
