– RECIPE CORNER

BUDDY THE ELF'S FAMOUS SPAGHETTI

inspired by Buddy's original creation from the movie "Elf"

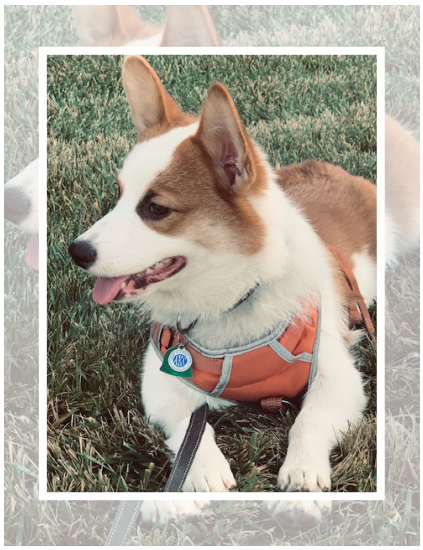

This recipe is a little different than typical recipes. There are no measurements because everything is based on personal preference!

- spaghetti
- chocolate syrup
- maple syrup
- M&M's
- mini marshmallows
- chocolate pop tarts
- rainbow sprinkles

1. Boil water in a large pot. Use at least 4 quarts of water for each pound of pasta.
2. Once water is boiling, add spaghetti into pot and stir occasionally to prevent pasta from sticking together.
3. Follow directions on spaghetti packaging to see how long to cook. Test the pasta by tasting it, drain when done, and plate it.
4. Drizzle chocolate syrup and maple syrup onto spaghetti.
5. Add mini marshmallows, M&M's, and rainbow sprinkles.
6. Toast pop tarts, break into smaller pieces, and add onto spaghetti.
7. Mix with hands (or utensils) and enjoy!

– LVNA MEETING RECAP

LVNA MEETING ON OCT 13

Leonard Dunn, Urban Landscape Manager with the City of Sunnyvale, provided an overview of the problem that many Lakewood Village residents are experiencing with sticky residue dripping from certain trees at this time of year. The primary specimen of concern is the hackberry tree, with the main culprit being the woolly hackberry aphid.

There's no health concern for the trees or people, but the honeydew (aphid secretion) that drips from the leaves where the aphids are feeding can be a nuisance for both. The trees would of course prefer to not have the sugar-rich nutrients sucked from their leaves, while people would prefer to not have the honeydew dripping on sidewalks and cars.

Identifying the aphids can be tricky since they're very small and the hackberry trees have been growing in Lakewood Village for many years, putting the leaves well out of range for easy visibility. Honeydew is often the first obvious sign of their presence.

Biological options are always the preferred method of control, but chemical options are also available. For more information, visit http://ipm.ucanr.edu/PMG/PESTNOTES/pn74111.html.

To find out if your street tree is a hackberry, or just to find out what it is, you can use Sunnyvale's interactive tree lookup map at https://sunnyvaleca.treekeepersoftware.com/
