NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

Can you believe it's already here!? It's officially 2020 and that time of year when many of us have either already abandoned a New Year's Resolution or at least set ourselves up for a seemingly daunting task ahead. Studies have shown that over 80% of people are unsuccessful with their resolutions, over half of which fail within the first two weeks of the year. But, with a new year comes an opportunity to start off fresh and try something new.

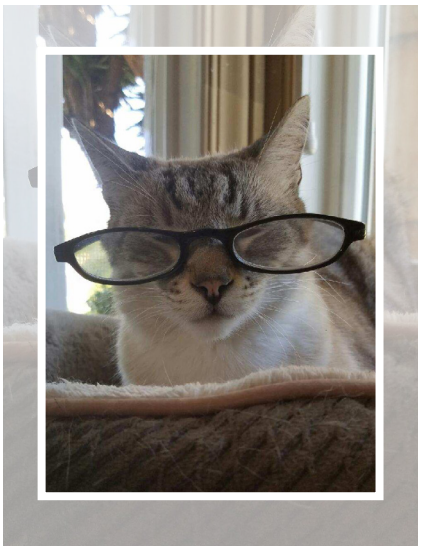

One of the biggest culprits for peoples' resolutions fizzling out is that they're often doomed from the start. When choosing a resolution, a proven technique for success is to ensure it's SMART.

S pecific
M easurable
A ttainable
R elevant
T ime-bound

Your goal should be specific. In other words, clearly defined so there's no room for ambiguity. It should be easily measurable so you know when you've reached a particular milestone and/or when you've succeeded all together. Dreaming big and reaching for the stars is great, but if your end goal is so far away it may seem unattainable. Make sure it's within reach and that a stretch-goal has intermediate milestones to help keep you on track.

Your goal should be relevant to YOU. Yes, many of us would love to be CEO of our own multi-billion dollar company, have a "perfect" BMI, and be the PTA parent that all other parents admire, but your goal should match your own lifestyle, ambitions, and schedule. Among all of this, your goal must be time-bound. One year is too long for most of us to process and actually promotes procrastination...which eventually causes the attainable part to break down. Confine your goal to smaller timeframes, aligning milestones with either specific durations of time (e.g., 6 weeks) or with key events in your life (e.g., one month before the wedding). Following a process like this will help you in defining your goals and putting them on the path towards success.

PET OF THE MONTH

Frankie, the consumate guard cat, likes to frolic and take naps in the backyard. He is a bratty brother to his sisters, Char and Nyla but is welcoming to the friendly neighborhood humans.

RECIPE CORNER

CHIA SEED PUDDING

1 CUP milk or nut milk alternative
3 TBSP chia seeds
2 TBSP cacao powder (optional)
1-2 TBSP maple syrup (optional)
any desired fruit for topping

1. Pour milk (or nut milk alternative) and chia seeds into container. Add above mentioned optional ingredients, if desired.
2. Combine everything well with a fork or whisk. Let settle for 3-5 minutes and then mix again. The chia seeds should start to "puff up." Repeat the settling and mixing process until you no longer see clumps.
3. Cover container and store in fridge for at least 2 hours or overnight.
4. When you are ready to eat, top with the fruit of your choice and enjoy!

– HOLIDAY LIGHTS RESULTS

With 2019 being the first Lakewood Village Holiday Lighting Contest in many years, we were quite impressed by all of the festive light displays. We'd like to give a huge shout-out and thanks to our guest judges - Officer Ray Strom, Sunnyvale Public Safety & Ashoorina Barreto, Sunnyvale Social Media Coordinator, as well as two of our LVNA board members, Imelda Misch and Grace Keng, for their assistance in navigation and driving during the judging.

There were some incredible runner-ups which presented our judges with a difficult task, considering all of the great displays out there, so a neighborhood-wide round of applause for all of the great Lakewood Village decorations of 2019. The winners from each quadrant, and recipients of the $25 Walmart gift cards are:

QUADRANT 1 PECOS WAY

QUADRANT 2 LAKEFAIR DRIVE

QUADRANT 3 SILVERLAKE DRIVE

QUADRANT 4 TORRANCE AVENUE

LVNA ELECTIONS

Only about two months until the LVNA board member elections. Are you passionate about our neighborhood? Do you have big ideas and skillsets to bring to the table? Perhaps you should consider running for one of the five board positions on March 11th! Just like a good democracy, the best way to improve resident representation is to have a diverse candidate pool. Please contact any of the current board members by February 12th with your notice of interest.
