- Lakewood Park Tree Walk -

Tree #3: Crape Myrtle

In April, we highlighted Tree #1, the London Plane tree. From there, Tree #2 was the Italian Stone Pine, visible from the same spot as Tree #1. The third tree on SUFA (Sunnyvale Urban Forest Advocates) Lakewood Park Tree Walk is the Crape Myrtle.

From the north side of the park building (near the splash pad), walk northeast, towards Lakechime Drive. You'll come to a concrete bench on your left. Stop here. There are two tall trees just behind the bench. These are Tree #3, the Crape Myrtle, Latin name Lagerstroemia. Native to Southeast Asia and Australia, this genus* has over 50 varieties (what's a genus? In the taxonomic tree of biology, genus comes . The tree is a common ornamental tree and species grow from 1 to 100 feet in height. Once the tree is established, it tolerates drought well.

Flowers bloom in summer or autumn, and they come in many colors - white, yellow, pink, purple, and red - and the wrinkled flowers are sometimes described as similar to crepe paper. The tree's seed pods can stain concrete, though, so be careful where you plant them.

The genus is named after Magnus von Lagerström. A Swedish merchant and director of the Swedish East India Company, he sent many plants to Carl Linnaeus (who is known as the father of modern taxonomy).

Unfortunately, the tree is susceptible to fungal diseases. A less-known variety is the Japanese crape myrtle, L. fauriei (known as saru suberi or "monkey slip" in Japanese). This species, with dark green leaves, is more resistant to fungal diseases than the more common L. indica. Many Lagerstroemia varieties available today are a result of breeding these two species.

*What's a genus? In the biology taxonomic rankings, genus comes above species and below family. For scientific Latin names, the genus is the first word of the species. For example, the domestic cat is Felis catus, so its genus is Felis and its species is catus. The domestic cat shares its genus with a handful of other small cats, including the sand cat (Felis margarita).

- Congrats to the WINNERS of the Memorial Day Scavenger Hunt -

Lakewood Village Neighborhood Association held our first Flag Scavenger hunt in May in celebration of Memorial Day. Twenty flags were placed around the neighborhood near sidewalks and the first 10 neighbors to submit their findings won $25 gift cards. The hunt began on May 7th and ended on May 31st, with a cheat map released partway through. Board members enjoyed seeing the participation throughout the month as people submitted pictures or locations of the flags they found. As it was our first hunt the original requirement was to find all 20 flags, but we soon changed the rules so prizes were given to those who found the most flags.

Our grand prize winners who found all 20 flags are Beverly Lau and Joakim Bång. Additional winners were Bev & Robin Woidyla, Precious Del Rosario, Kevin Lohman + kids, and Quyen Ly. Thank you all for your participation!

- The Little Free Puzzle Library Has a New Home -

Several months ago, one of our neighbors started a Little Free Puzzle Library in our neighborhood. She collected puzzle donations, found a rack to store them, and advertised it on local Facebook and Nextdoor communities. Similar to the Little Free Libraries in our neighborhood, the idea was to have a central, nearby location where neighbors can borrow, donate, or swap puzzles. This amazing neighbor hosted the Puzzle Library for several months, but eventually it was time for a new home for the Little Free Puzzle Library. After some fits and starts, the Little Free Puzzle Library has found a new home! Please come by to take a few puzzles or drop some off. As a gentle reminder, this is a resource for the entire community. Please take no more than 3 puzzles at a time. While it's not required to return the puzzles when you are done, returning them will help keep the Puzzle Library well stocked. For location information, please email vp1@lvnasv.org

For those who want to travel farther, the Sunnyvale Public Library also has a Library of Things, where you can borrow Chromebooks, Kill-A-Watt meters, Nintendo Switch games, jigsaw puzzles, and other items. - Reminders -

Water Restrictions

Due to the ongoing drought, Sunnyvale has a goal to reduce our water usage to 15% less than what was used in 2020. To support this, the City Council recently extended the drought emergency declaration. As a result, a quick reminder that watering your landscape is limited to the following days:

Houses with odd numbers water their lawns Monday and Thursday

Houses with even numbers water their lawns Tuesday and Friday

Houses with no numbers water their lawns Monday and Thursday

Pro tip: Water either BEFORE 9:00am or AFTER 6:00pm. Because it's cooler in the evening and overnight, it takes longer for the water from your irrigation to evaporate. This means more of the water soaks into the soil and gets absorbed by the plant roots. So - happier plants on less water!

If you notice someone wasting water, you can either talk to them directly or you can report it through the Valley Water website here:
https://www.valleywater.org/droughtsaving-water/report-water-waste
