Volunteer Appreciation Night

- Craig Crawford

This month is volunteer appreciation night for the LVNA volunteers. Every year we recognize the volunteers that make the LVNA successful. We have dozens of walkers for the newsletters, cooks for the picnic, and helpers for the parade. Without these people, the LVNA would not exist.

If you are a volunteer, please come to this month's meeting and have a slice of pizza and some good fellowship with other volunteers. This is a no-cost pizza feed that you have earned. Bring your appetites. ■

President's Column

- Craig Crawford

I was invited to a meeting that included all the Neighborhood Associations in the City of Sunnyvale. Several members of Neighborhood Preservation were in attendance along with Public Safety, and Council Member Howe. This was a chance to share information with other organizations and to find out how other organizations are handling problems.

I was surprised to learn that other neighborhoods are battling the same problems that are happening in Lakewood. Everyone has problems with junk cars, weeds, and shopping carts, to name some of the common problems. Most of these seem to be small but when you add in garbage cans that are left in the street or the front yard along with Christmas lights ► that are left up all year, you start to see a neighborhood that needs work.

We did not come up with a citywide solution, but we did start a dialog with other organizations that we need to put our collective heads together and find a way to deal with some of out common problems. The City Council is starting a new forum for receiving public comment. The Council will come out to the Neighborhood Association meeting and conduct a Council meeting that will focus entirely on the neighborhood. They will be listening and taking notes on what we have to say. This seems to be a big step in the right direction.

Communication between the neighborhoods and the city is how things get done. The council can set a direction that the city can use in providing services and help that every neighborhood needs. I will be setting up a date for this meeting in the near future. To be effective we have to have a good turnout, so be looking for the date in an upcoming newsletter. See you at the next meeting, neighbor.■

2001 Holiday Parade

- Craig Crawford

I want to thank Advanced Micro Devices for once again helping with the serving of the snacks and for a most generous grant for the snacks. AMD, like many of the firms in this great area, are facing a slow down, but AMD still found a way to help us out and I want to extend a big Lakewood Thank You. AMD's fearless leader of the volunteers is the one and only Grace Witt, a coordinator without peer. She has remarkable attention to detail and helped to keep me focused on what's important. Thank you Grace, and thank you AMD!

Many other people spent time to make the holiday parade a big success. One of the other big contributors was DJ Effern. He made the announcements and played the Christmas music that we all loved. Thank you, Effren, and thank you to all the other parade volunteers and participants who made the parade a success. See you next year! ■

Lakewood Park Renovation Ideas

- Craig Crawford

The City of Sunnyvale Park staff is having a series of meetings with the public to discuss renovating some specific areas of Lakewood Park. Curtis Black, Superintendent of Parks, and Scott Morton, Parks Supervisor and several members of the public were at the meeting that I attended. The areas that are targeted to be renovated are the concrete skating rink just outside of the multi purpose park building, the amphitheater/fire ring near the group picnic area, and the old tepee on the hill area. These areas have been underused for many years and are in need of upgrading.

The timetable for the renovation is:

- o Conceptual done by May, 2002
- o Award the contract in June or July
- o Break ground in fall, 2002, and continue construction for six months
- o Spring 2003 dedication and opening ►

► The idea to renovate these areas has been thought about for the last ten years by Park staff. The funding has been secured and it's time to get public input about what we want to see in these areas. If you remember several years ago we had public meetings on the renovating of Fairwood Park. It was a great time to have our park ideas become a reality. The city really listened to us and we were able to develop a park that fit our neighborhood. Fairwood Park is one of the nicest parks in Sunnyvale because of the public input.

Some of ideas that were brought up for Lakewood Park are:

Dog Park area	Par course
Water play features	Artworks
Skateboard Park	Tot lot
Community garden	Volleyball courts
Gazebo	Color or rose garden
Bocce courts	Playground
Drinking fountain	Info kiosk
Trees, benches, general fixtures	Passive/meditation garden
Add restroom and concession in place of old concession by basketball court	More family picnic sites

Stay in touch with the meeting schedule on the Lakewood message board, your newsletter and other sources that will be used to spread the information. Be involved and make a difference. This is a fun process and it will help make Lakewood more wonderful than it already is. The LNVA will have Park staff at a future membership meeting to let us know how the development process is coming, so attend your monthly meeting and be involved. ■

Lakewood Village History Project

- Brian Smithson

Wow, Lakewood Village is almost 50 years old!

In preparation for the neighborhood's semi-centennial, I've begun collecting and organizing historical information about our neighborhood, and I plan to publish a series of articles in the Villager about Lakewood Village's history.

To make this Lakewood Village history project possible, I need to gather historical materials from wherever I can find them. If you're a long-time resident, you participated in various Lakewood Village associations, or perhaps a previous resident has bequeathed historical materials to you, I'd like to hear from you.

I've received an archive of meeting minutes and correspondence from 1958-1966 that a former resident gave to Elena and Mel Anderson, and they were kind enough to donate them to the cause. I also received copies of newsletters from 1958-1967 along with some photographs and brochures, courtesy of Kathy and Rick Bray. I am deeply appreciative for all of the materials, and I'm still looking for the following items:

- o Photographs of the area from the 50's, 60's, and 70's.
- o Newspaper articles about Lakewood Village from the 50's, 60's, 70's, and 80's.
- o Sales brochures or other materials about the original neighborhood development.
- o Old issues of the Villager. I need the following issues:
  - ➢ Volume 1, Number 1, from January 1958
  - ➢ Volume 1, Number 11, from November 1958
  - ➢ all issues from 1961
  - ➢ January, February, and March issues from 1967
  - ➢ all issues from January 1968 to September 2001. ▶

- o Other materials from the Lakewood Village Neighborhood Association, or the Lakewood Village Resident's Association as it was previously known. Especially useful would be LVNA/LVRA meeting minutes and any official association documents or correspondence from April 1966 to the present.
- o Any kind of information that you might have about the neighborhood prior to 1958 would be especially appreciated. The LVRA was established in 1958, and that is when most of the documented materials begin.

Contributing these materials is a great way to clear out some storage space in your home or garage! Or, you can just lend me the materials so I can make copies of paper documents, scan the photographs, slides, and negatives, and then return the originals to you.

I have many ideas about what historical information could be published, but I'd like to hear from you about what aspects of Lakewood Village's history you'd like to see in upcoming issues of the Villager.

To offer materials or make suggestions, contact me by email to lvna_editor@yahoo.com, or by FAX to (408) 738-2821, or by postal mail to LVNA Villager, c/o Brian Smithson, 1104 Burntwood Court, Sunnyvale CA 94089. Alternatively, you can give me a call at (408) 738-5939 – or for you old-timers, perhaps I should say REgent 8-5939 ☺.■

In Memoriam, Dr. Michael R. Burd, 1952-2002

- Gloria Burd

[Editor's note: On January 3rd, Gloria Burd's husband of 26½ years passed away suddenly and unexpectedly from a heart condition. The Burds are long-time residents and avid participants in neighborhood activities. Please consider sending a donation in Dr. Burd's memory.]

Dr. Burd was a solid state physicist with Mattson Technology. He not only loved science, but was always concerned about the fact that kids (especially those from underprivileged backgrounds) were not getting the kind of access to hands-on science education that they deserved. Every year during the holiday season, Dr. Burd used to contribute a toy (and it was nearly always a science learning kit!) to either The Giving Tree or Toys for Tots. He loved teaching--he used to tutor people, including me!

Dr. Burd was also an environmentalist and a supporter of county and state parks, as well as wildlife refuges. A civic-minded person, he used to help me collate the monthly "LVNA Villager", and would accompany me on my monthly LVNA newsletter delivery route.

If you'd like to do something in my husband Michael's (i.e., Dr. Michael R. Burd) memory, you can send a donation to the American Institute of Physics Olympiad Fund. This is a scholarship program for talented and needy physics students. Here is the address:

From the Police Blotter: Lakewood Village and nearby areas

1/8 Fairoaks and Wolfe: Suspect was pulled over for headlight out and the officer smelt odor of pot. Suspect admitted to smoking pot and being in the possession of pot. Cited and released.

1/10 Albatross Dr.: Victim was walking his dog on a leash when an unleashed dog ran out and started to fight with leashed dog. The unleashed dog owner was cited for keeping an unlicensed dog.

1/14 Wildwood at Fairwood: Three females tried to pass a fictitious $10.00 bill at the 7-11 store. The store clerk noticed it was false. They took the false note back and repurchased merchandise with a real bill and left the area. The suspects were described but not arrested.

1/14 San Miguel School: Unknown suspect spray-painted the San Miguel school handball court.

1/15 Armory on Maude: Suspect was causing a disturbance and was asked to leave but refused. She was arguing with staff. She stated that she did not have to leave and would return anyway. Staff members requested a citizen's arrest on the suspect for trespassing. Suspect was arrested and transported to county jail because of likelihood of the offense continuing.

1/16 Ahawanee pedestrian over crossing: Unknown suspect spray-painted the pedestrian crossing on the sides and walkway.

1/16 Twinlake: Victim parked and locked the van at 1700 when she went to bed at 2300 all was fine. 2 large stereo speakers were missing from the back of the van. The stereo and amplifier were still in vehicle.

1/19 N. Fairoaks: Officers went to residence to conduct a search. Found controlled substance in the pocket of suspect females pants. ■

From the Editor's Desk

- Editor

A new look, some new features, and some old features being revived: I hope you like this month's issue of the Villager. I'll never know unless you tell me, so please send comments!

Letters to the Editor

In previous years, there was a "Letters to the Editor" column in the Villager, and if there is sufficient interest, I'm going to resume that tradition.

If you have brief comments about any articles in the Villager, or about other subjects that you think might be of general interest, send them to me. Here's how it works:

- The editor reserves the right to you're your material or to not publish it at all.
- Anything you submit may be published unless you request it not be published.
- You should identify yourself by name and address when you submit material, but you can request that your identity be withheld from publication.

Make Yourself Heard!

What makes the Villager a great newsletter? Contributed articles and suggestions from Lakewood Village residents! So, why don't you write an article for the Villager? Write about what you care about. Write about why you live in Lakewood Village, how we can make it better, or what you envision for its future. Write about anything you think would be useful and informative to your neighbors. If you're a little unsure about your journalistic or language skills, don't worry – you're not the only one – and I'll help you with the final editing. If you don't want to write anything, then suggest subjects that you would like someone else to write about and I'll see what I can do.

To contact the Editor of the LVNA Villager...

Send your articles, comments, and corrections by email to lvna_editor@yahoo.com, by FAX to (408)738-2821, or by postal mail to LVNA Villager, c/o Brian Smithson, 1104 Burntwood Court, Sunnyvale CA 94089. ■

Neighborhood Preservation Update

- Richard J. Gutierrez

The Sunnyvale Neighborhood Preservation Division is vamping enforcement of code ► violators in Lakewood Village. The City is taking a proactive stance to achieve compliance when enforcing the Sunnyvale Municipal Code.

In order to achieve compliance with code violators, Neighborhood Preservation is utilizing a variety of enforcement tools, including Administrative Citations. The intent of the Administrative Citation process is to clean-up neglected properties throughout the City. Some examples include parking automobiles on the front lawn, garbage cans left out in public view twenty-four hours after garbage pick-up, front yard storage, and the accumulation of debris. Fines range from $25 to $100 per violation. In the month of January, Neighborhood Preservation issued the following citations in the Lakewood Village area:

Street	Date	Citation	Fine
Hiddenlake Dr.	01/03	Trash cans	$25
Hiddenlake Dr.	01/03	Trash cans	$25
Hiddenlake Dr.	01/03	Trash cans	$25
Tucson Ave	01/08	Vehicle on unpaved surface	$25
Hiddenlake Dr.	01/10	Trash cans	$25
Hiddenlake Dr.	01/17	Trash cans	$25

Craig Crawford adds these comments:

If you are having problems putting your toters behind the fence or to the back yard, you can order smaller ones or make other arrangements with the city for their storage. If you are physically unable to store them properly, then call me and I can get a volunteer to help out. ■

Family Child Daycare
The Business – The Profession

- James L. Daugherty

The Business

My wife was always in family child daycare since she began working 35 years ago. Child daycare (baby sitting) at one time was not considered a profession, but more of an unreliable means of a second income, or something to do for extra spending money. This was back in 1966-67.

Today, family daycare is licensed by the State with regulations covering the size of the business, how long you must be employed in the business before being allowed to expand, and CPR training requirements. Also, city business regulations com into play with local business licenses and fire permits, depending on size.

The Economics

A new daycare business would be limited to six children with a limit of three infants under the age of two, or four infants and no other children. This limit is for the safety of the children. It gives the new provider an opportunity to see if this is really what is wanted in a home-based business. It tests your maturity and ability to handle stressful situations involving interaction between yourself and children of different disciplines and cultures and their parents. ►

► To succeed, you will learn to budget, set prices, write contracts, and manage public relations. You will learn the value of self-reliance, and develop skills in supervision, teaching, and hopefully, have a knack for arts and crafts.

If your business is successful after the first year, you may expand your business to twelve children with a maximum of four under the age of two years old. If you are willing to take on school-age children, you may hav4e two of these children that would drop in after school. This would allow you a maximum of fourteen children at any one time. Rates for after-schoolers can be daily or hourly.

Some daycares will structure their prices on the number of children the State would allow at their maximum. Others will average the cost-per-child, regardless of age. Example: A daycare with four infants may charge $175 per week per child for a total of $700 per week. Another daycare with three infants and three preschoolers may charge $150 per week for the three infants and $100 per week for the preschoolers over the age of two, for a total of $750 per week. Still another daycare may charge $125 per week per child, regardless of age. The few extra dollars per week for older children is justified because they will be eating more, require more diverse care, and require a larger variety of toys, playground space, and sleeping arrangements.

Daycares that are licensed for twelve also require a second person on the premises. Watching twelve children by yourself doesn't seem to be that big of a task to some. Remember, though, that there will be times when you will need to relieve yourself, cook meals or just want a coffee break. This will no doubt be when Little Johnny pushes Little Susie off the swing set, the baby beings to cry for a change and its next feeding, and Mike gets into a scrap with Billy and bites him on the arm. You'll be blessed if you have a good partner or helper. Taxes included, it will take about two and one-half children to support your helper. The current minimum wage rate is $6.75 per hour, plus your share of payroll taxes and workman's compensation insurance.

Discipline and Supervision

Keeping control of your young children is going to require a ton of patience and self-discipline. In supervising young children, it is very important to maintain yourself as the person in charge. Playing or participant with them in their activities requires you to, or they may see you as one of the kids and you will lose your control. If this occurs, they may ignore you to some extent when it comes to following directions, accepting discipline, or even their relationships with each other.

In dealing with the parents, a written contract is an invaluable too. This contract should lay out the arrival time and departure time per day, how much will be charged, at what time overtime will be started, and how much extra that will cost. It should outline the parents' responsibilities as well as yours. it should cover such subjects as transportation of children, field trips, vacation time for you both, meals, snacks, changes of clothes, who buys the diapers, etc. A section should be included to allow for handwritten negotiated changes in the contract.

The Reward

The reward is knowing that your are giving a part of yourself to these children and their families, and that they are better off because of you.

Family child daycare is a profession you can be proud of. It isn't for everyone. Being an outgoing and giving person and willing to change the rules to accommodate the fast living and changing Silicon Valley lifestyle is a big asset. Hopefully, the families served by family daycares will have a happier and better future. ■

Newsletter Walkers Needed

- Elena Anderson

Your LVNA is in need of a few good folks to help get the message out. It takes only a few minutes a month, gets you out of the house into the fresh air, and gives you an opportunity to meet some of your neighbors. If you can devote some time as a Newsletter Walker, please call Elena at 745-6028. It's a great way to make a contribution to the Neighborhood! ■

"Ask the Officer"

- Editor

"Ask the Officer", a popular column in previous issues of the Villager, will be resuming in next month's issue. I spoke with Sunnyvale Public Safety and they had experienced some personnel changes in the past couple of months that resulted in the interruption.

Send your questions to them – after all, you need to ask them something for them to be able to answer! You can phone your questions in to (408) 730-7140, mail them to Sunnyvale Public Safety, Crime Prevention Unit, 700 All American Way, Sunnyvale 94086, or email them to me at lvna_editor@yahoo.com and I'll forward them to the appropriate Public Safety officer. ■

Lawrence Expressway Planning

- Dan Collen

[Editor's note: I wrote to the County Roads and Airports department to ask about the planning process for improvements to Lawrence Expressway. I've published the response from Dan Collen here:]

The County of Santa Clara is developing a planning document to assess the various expressway needs and to develop potential projects and priorities to address those needs. Traffic capacity is one of the areas of need under consideration. We will also assess other areas of need such as pedestrian and bicycle provisions, landscaping, sound walls, infrastructure maintenance and rehabilitation, and transit accommodation. In addition to the technical analysis, the study includes an extensive collaborative planning process with city and public participation playing key roles in the process.

We have really just begun the Study and are still in the data gathering phase. As a starting point, we have compiled previous planning documents and proposed projects, and are coordinating with Sunnyvale city staff to get information on city development plans and the city general plan. Potential grade separation projects at Sandia/Lakehaven and Tasman are listed in past planning documents (e.g., the T2000 Countywide Transportation Plan adopted in the late 1980's). As part of this Study, we will take a fresh look at these previously proposed grade separation projects, and any other proposals that may be developed, such as at-grade intersection improvements. We are also holding discussions with the Santa Clara Valley Transportation Authority (VTA) about their transit plans related to the expressways and will continue to work with them to identify improvements to accommodate transit use.

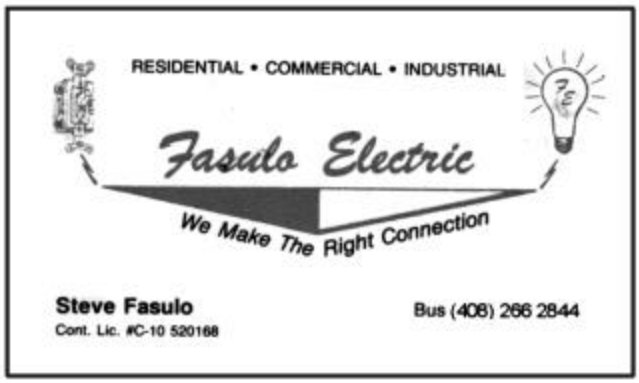

We welcome and encourage public comment. Our web site is now operational (www.expressways.info) and includes an e-mail link for public input. We also have a project hotline (408-544-2476, ext. 333) for taking comments. As a rule, we will not be able to respond to each individual e-mail and telephone comment but we are compiling the comments and using them as we proceed with the Study. We also plan to have several community meetings during the course of the► study. Over the next month, you will see a great deal of information added to the web site starting with the results of our data collection work. We will also post community meetings on the web site and announce them on our project hot line as they are scheduled. We will add you to our contact list to keep you informed when community meetings are scheduled so you can notify your readers.

The draft plan will be brought forward for discussion this summer and an additional public review period is planned in the Fall. The Final Plan is scheduled for adoption at the end of 2002. Attached is our Project Fact Sheet which provides more information about the Study process and schedule.

Dan Collen, Project Manager
County Roads and Airports Department

[I have summarized the schedule from the Fact Sheet, below. – Editor]

- January-June 2002 – Technical Working Group (TWG) and Policy Advisory Board (PAB) develop policies, priorities, and funding options leading to a preferred Implementation Plan strategy.
- June-August 2002 – Community outreach meetings held; Draft Implementation Plan prepared.
- September 2002 – TWG, PAB, and Board of Supervisors approve release of Draft Plan for review and comment.
- October-November 2002 – City Council and public review of the Draft Implementation Plan.
- November-December 2002 –Draft Plan revised based on comments; TWG, PAB, and Board of Supervisors approves Final Implementation Plan. ■
